Congress Overview

The 2026 Joint Congress of the Asian College of Veterinary Surgeons (AiCVS) and the Asian College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (AiCVIM) will be held in Kaohsiung, Taiwan — marking the first time a major Asian veterinary specialist congress takes place in Southern Taiwan. This landmark event is hosted by the Taiwan College of Veterinary Surgeons (TCVS), in collaboration with the Formosa Veterinary Medical Association, the Kaohsiung Veterinary Association, and the Taiwan Veterinary Dermatology Society. The congress will serve as a dynamic platform for professional advancement, academic collaboration, and international exchange among Asia's veterinary specialists and industry leaders.

The 2026 AiCVS–AiCVIM Joint Congress will:
• Strengthen international collaboration in veterinary specialization.
• Promote advanced clinical education and cross-border research partnerships.
• Create opportunities for academic–industry cooperation.
• Contribute to the growth and excellence of veterinary medicine in the region.

This congress will bring together specialist veterinarians in surgery and internal medicine, as well as clinical decision-makers from across Asia, making it one of the region's most influential platforms for specialist academic exchange. To help industry partners effectively reach this core professional audience, the congress has designed a range of corporate sponsorship and exhibition opportunities. These programs allow your company to showcase the latest products, technologies, and innovations to Asia's veterinary specialists, enhancing brand visibility and fostering opportunities for professional collaboration.

We look forward to partnering with you to make the 2026 AiCVS–AiCVIM Joint Congress a resounding success.
